DJOKOVIC, ZVEREV SQUARE OFF IN CHAMPIONSHIP

- The championship of the Nitto ATP Finals on Sunday between World No. 1 Novak Djokovic and No. 3 seed Alexander Zverev is the final match of the 2018 ATP World Tour season. Djokovic is attempting to capture a record-tying sixth ATP Finals title (along with Federer). This is the Serb's seventh title match (5-1) while Zverev is appearing in his first Nitto ATP Finals championship. The 21-year-old German is the youngest finalist at The O2 since Juan Martin del Potro (21) in 2009 (l. to Davydenko). He is also the first German to reach the year-end Finals title match since Boris Becker in 1996 Hanover (l. to Sampras). The 31-year-old Serb is trying to become the oldest champion in ATP Finals history (since 1970). Roger Federer (at 30y, 3m), who won the 2011 title, is the oldest winner.

- This is their fourth career meeting, the second of the tournament. Djokovic comes in with a 2-1 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against Zverev. On Wednesday, Djokovic won 64 61 in the second round robin match, saving two break points (the only BPs faced in 36 service games). Zverev only won 35% of second serve pts. compared to Djokovic's 70%. See page 3 for match statistics.

- Djokovic is appearing in his sixth straight championship match at the Nitto ATP Finals since 2012 (did not play last year). Two years ago he lost to Andy Murray in the final which decided the year-end No. 1 ranking. He won titles in 2008 in Shanghai and at The O2 from 2012-15. Djokovic has held serve all 36 games en route to the final, facing only two break points. The last player to win the year-end championships without losing a set in the tournament was Zverev's coach, Ivan Lendl in 1986. Djokovic is 35-2 since the beginning of Wimbledon) and he is 4-1 in finals during that stretch. Last month at ATP Masters 1000 Shanghai he held all 47 service games en route to the title. It was the first time in his career he won an ATP title without getting broken in the tournament.

- Zverev is trying to become the first German to win the ATP Finals title since Becker in 1995 Frankfurt (d. Chang). Becker also won titles in 1988 and 1992. The other German ATP Finals champion was Michael Stich in 1993. The 21-year-old Hamburg native is looking to become the youngest ATP Finals champion since Djokovic (21) in 2008 Shanghai (d. Davydenko). Zverev leads the tournament in aces (42) and he will finish No. 4 in the ATP Rankings for the second straight year.

- What's at Stake: Champion will earn an additional $1,280,000 and 500 ATP Rankings points
  - IF Djokovic wins the title, he will earn $2,712,000 and 1,500 ATP Rankings points for the event
  - IF Zverev wins the title, he will earn $2,509,000 and 1,300 ATP Rankings points for the event

- In the doubles final, No. 8 seeds Pierre-Hugues Herbert and Nicolas Mahut take on No. 5 seeds Mike Bryan and Jack Sock. This is the second meeting in three days between the two teams. On Friday, Herbert and Mahut won 62 62 in the final Group Knowles/Nestor match. They won the group while Bryan and Sock finished second. Both teams won Match Tie-breaks in the semi-finals to advance to their first Nitto ATP Finals title match although Mike Bryan is 4-2 in past finals with brother Bob. Herbert and Mahut are trying to become the first Frenchmen to capture the ATP Finals title since Michael Llodra and Fabrice Santoro in 2005 Shanghai. Bryan is attempting to become the sixth player in tournament history (since 1970) to win year-end titles with at least two partners. Sock is the first American to reach the singles semi-finals and reach the doubles final in the year-end championships since John McEnroe, who won both Masters titles in 1984.

TOP FOUR SEEDS HEADLINE BLOCKBUSTER SEMI-FINALS

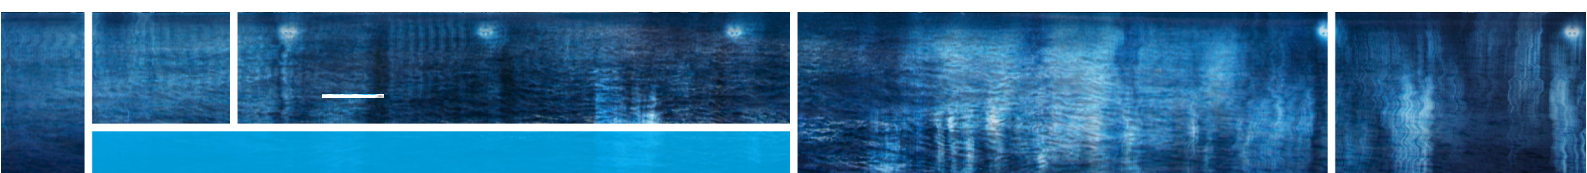

- The semi-finals of the Nitto ATP Finals on Saturday feature the top four seeds: Novak Djokovic, Roger Federer, Alexander Zverev and Kevin Anderson. This is the first time since 2014 the Top 4 seeds are in the semi-finals at The O2. That year, Djokovic, Federer, Stan Wawrinka and Kei Nishikori were in the semi-finals. Federer is a six-time Nitto ATP Finals champion and Djokovic is a five-time winner. Zverev and Anderson are appearing in their first semi-final at the season finale. This is the sixth time (first since 2015) that Djokovic and Federer have reached the semi-finals in the same year (2010, 2012-13-14-15, '18). In the previous five times, one of the two went on to win the title (Federer in 2010, Djokovic from 2012-15).

- In the day session, Federer brings a 3-2 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against Zverev, who is the youngest semi-finalist at the Nitto ATP Finals since Juan Martin del Potro (21) reached the title match in 2009 (l. to Davydenko). Federer won the last meeting 76 57 61 in round-robin play in London one year ago. The 21-year-old Hamburg native is the first German to reach the semi-finals at the year-end championships since Rainer Schuettler in 2003 in Houston (l. to Agassi). Boris Becker is the last German to reach the championship match in 1996 Hanover (l. to Sampras). Becker won the 1995 title in Frankfurt. The 37-year-old Federer, who is in pursuit of his 100th career title, is playing in his 15th semi-final (10-4) in 16 appearances at the year-end championships. He's trying to reach his 11th final (6-4), and first since 2015. His last of six titles came in 2011 at the age of 30 yrs, 3 mons. (oldest tournament champion).

- In the evening session, Djokovic takes a 7-1 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against Anderson, who is the first African player to reach the semi-finals in tournament history (since 1970). Djokovic has won their past seven meetings, including twice this season in the Wimbledon final and ATP Masters 1000 Shanghai QFs. Djokovic, who is 34-2 since the beginning of Wimbledon, is 6-1 in SF matches at the Nitto ATP Finals, winning his past five. The 31-year-old Serb is trying to reach his seventh year-end Finals title match (5-1). He has held serve all 28 games this week, facing only two break points.

- In doubles action, all four teams are trying to reach their first title match at the Nitto ATP Finals. Of the eight remaining players, Mike Bryan is the only player to reach the final in the past. He is 4-2 in finals with his brother, Bob Bryan. In the opening match, No. 4 seeds Jamie Murray and Bruno Soares, who won Group Llodra/Santoro with a 3-0 record, take on No. 5 seeds M. Bryan and Jack Sock for the first time. Murray and Soares are in the semi-finals for the third straight year. In the evening match, Colombians and No. 2 seeds Juan Sebastian Cabal and Robert Farah meet Frenchmen and No. 8 seeds Pierre-Hugues Herbert and Nicolas Mahut.

- First-Time Success: Anderson is appearing in the semi-finals in his tournament debut. Here are the players who qualified and reached the semi-finals or better in their debut at The O2 (since 2009):

CILIC, ISNER, ZVEREV BATTLE FOR SEMI-FINAL SPOT

- The second semi-final spot in Group Guga Kuerten will be filled on Friday by either Marin Cilic, John Isner or Alexander Zverev. One of the three players will join World No. 1 and five-time Nitto ATP Finals champion Novak Djokovic, who is making his eighth semi-final appearance in the year-end championships. In the day session, Zverev (1-1) brings a 4-1 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against Isner (0-2), who posted his lone win over the German in the final at ATP Masters 1000 Miami on April 1. Zverev won the last meeting in the QFs at ATP Masters 1000 Madrid in May en route to the title. If Zverev beats Isner, he will become the first German to reach the semi-finals in the year-end championships since Rainer Schuettler in 2003 in Houston (l. to Agassi). The 21-year-old Hamburg native would also be the youngest semi-finalist at the ATP Finals since Juan Martin del Potro (21) reached the final in 2009 (l. to Davydenko). Isner must win in two sets and Djokovic has to beat Cilic for the 33-year-old American to qualify for the semi-finals.

- In the evening session, Djokovic (2-0) takes a 16-2 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against Cilic (1-1), who beat the Serb at the London/Queen's Club final on June 24. Since then Djokovic won the past two meetings in three sets in the SFs at ATP Masters 1000 Cincinnati and QFs at ATP Masters 1000 Paris. Djokovic is 33-2 since the loss to Cilic and is 7-3 in final round robin group matches in the ATP Finals, winning his past five. Cilic must win and Isner needs to beat Zverev in order for the Croat to advance to the semi-finals for the first time.

- In doubles action in Group Knowles/Nestor, top seeds and year-end No. 1s Oliver Marach and Mate Pavic (1-1) take on No. 3 Lukasz Kubot and Marcelo Melo (0-2) while No. 5 seeds Mike Bryan and Jack Sock (2-0) meet No. 8 seeds Pierre-Hugues Herbert and Nicolas Mahut (1-1). All four teams are still alive to reach the semi-finals. See semi-finals scenarios on page 5.

THIEM-NISHIKORI, ANDERSON-FEDERER EYE SEMI-FINALS

- The final day of Group Lleyton Hewitt round robin action at the Nitto ATP Finals on Thursday features six-time champion Roger Federer and No. 4 seed Kevin Anderson in the evening session. Anderson, who is trying to become the first South African to reach the semi-finals in tournament history (since 1970), is 1-4 against Federer but he won the last meeting 13-11 in the fifth set (saving 1 MP) in the quarter-finals at Wimbledon on July 11. Federer is looking to reach the semi-finals for the 15th time in 16 ATP Finals appearances. Complete semi-final scenarios are below.

- In the day session, No. 6 seed Dominic Thiem (0-2) takes on No. 7 Kei Nishikori (1-1), who holds a 3-1 FedEx ATP Head2Head record against the Austrian. Thiem must win in two sets and Anderson has to beat Federer in two sets to have a chance to reach the semi-finals. If that happens, then the tie-break will be decided by the percentage of games won between Federer, Nishikori and Thiem for the second SF spot. If Nishikori and Federer both win in two sets then the tie-break will be decided by the pct. of games won between Anderson, Federer and Nishikori for the two SF spots.

- In doubles action, No. 4 seeds Jamie Murray and Bruno Soares have clinched Group Llodra/Santoro and a spot in the semi-finals for the third straight year by winning their first two matches. They take on alternates Henri Kontinen and John Peers, who have won the title at The O2 the past two years. They are taking the place of No. 7 Nikola Mektic and Alexander Peya, who withdrew due to Peya's elbow injury. The 6-foot-10 Isner is the tallest player ever to compete at the year-end championships. Isner, 33, is also the oldest first-time qualifier at the Nitto ATP Finals since 35-year-old Andres Gimeno debuted at the third edition of the tournament in 1972.

- In doubles action in Group Knowles/Nestor, top seeds and year-end No. 1s Oliver Marach and Mate Pavic take on No. 5 seeds Mike Bryan and Jack Sock for the first time. See semi-finals scenarios on page 5. In the evening session, last year's No. 1 team of Lukasz Kubot and Marcelo Melo, the No. 3 seeds, meet No. 8 seeds Pierre-Hugues Herbert and Nicolas Mahut. Both teams are trying to keep their semi-final hopes alive after losing their opening match on Monday.

FEDERER IN A HOLE ENTERING 2ND MATCH AGAINST THIEM

- Roger Federer enters his second match set-less for the first time in his record 16 appearances at the Nitto ATP Finals. Federer suffered his first straight-set loss in 46 round-robin matches at the year-end championships on Sunday, falling to Kei Nishikori 7-6(4), 6-3. The six-time champion tries to rebound on Tuesday against Dominic Thiem, who fell to 0-3 in opening matches at The O2 with his loss to Kevin Anderson. Federer is 15-0 and Thiem is 2-0 in their second round-robin matches respectively. The Swiss and Austrian met three times during Federer's injury-shortened 2016 season. Thiem leads their FedEx ATP Head2Head 2-1, defeating Federer in his last clay-court match at ATP Masters 1000 Rome, then saving two match points to beat him on grass at Stuttgart.

- An African player has never qualified for the semi-finals of the year-end championships. Anderson will be the first if he defeats Nishikori and Thiem defeats Federer, or if he beats Nishikori in two sets and Federer beats Thiem in three. Nishikori qualifies for his third semi-final if he defeats Anderson and Federer defeats Thiem, or if he beats Anderson in two sets and Thiem beats Federer in three. The top African and Asian players in ATP Rankings history are meeting for the third time in as many tournaments. Anderson captured the Vienna title on 28 October with a win over Nishikori before losing to him four days later at ATP Masters 1000 Paris. Nishikori is 5-3 against Anderson overall.

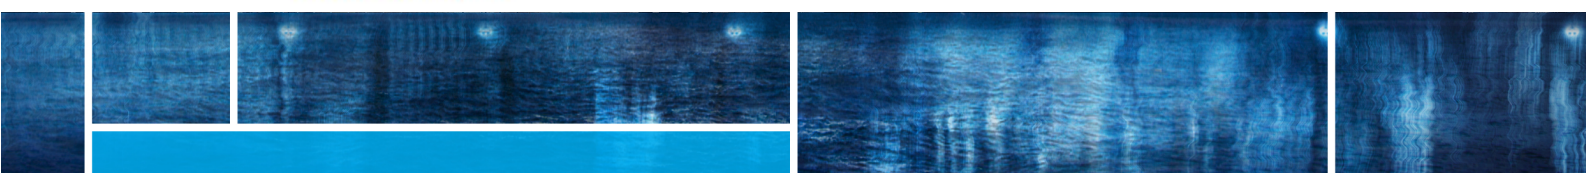

- Fourteen years after their first Futures event together, Juan Sebastian Cabal and Robert Farah earned a straight-set win over Nikola Mektic and Alexander Peya in their Nitto ATP Finals debut on Sunday. With another straight-set win over Jamie Murray and Bruno Soares on Tuesday, the Colombians will qualify for the semi-finals. Cabal and Farah can also qualify with a three-set win if Mektic and Peya beat Raven Klaasen and Michael Venus earlier on Tuesday. Murray and Soares will clinch a spot in their third straight semi-final if they beat Cabal/Farah after a Klaasen/Venus win.

YEAR-END NO. 1 DJOKOVIC FACES TALL TASK IN OPENER

- The four players in Group Guga Kuerten have combined for 33 wins at the Nitto ATP Finals. Thirty-one of those belong to five-time champion Novak Djokovic, who on Sunday was presented with the year-end ATP World Tour No. 1 trophy. Djokovic begins his campaign at The O2 on Monday against 6-foot-10 debutant John Isner -- the tallest player ever to compete at the year-end championships. Isner, 33, is also the oldest first-time qualifier at the Nitto ATP Finals since 35-year-old Andres Gimeno debuted at the third edition of the tournament in 1972. Djokovic is one win shy of 50 for the 11th time in the last 12 seasons. He is 8-2 overall against Isner with five straight wins on hard courts.

- Also in Group Guga Kuerten, No. 3 seed Alexander Zverev and No. 5 seed Marin Cilic seek the second Nitto ATP Finals victory of their respective careers. Cilic owns a 1-8 tournament record, posting his lone win over Kei Nishikori after already being eliminated from semi-final contention in 2016. Zverev went 1-2 in his debut at The O2 last November, defeating Cilic 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 in his first round-robin match. The 21-year-old German leads the ATP World Tour with 54 victories this season.

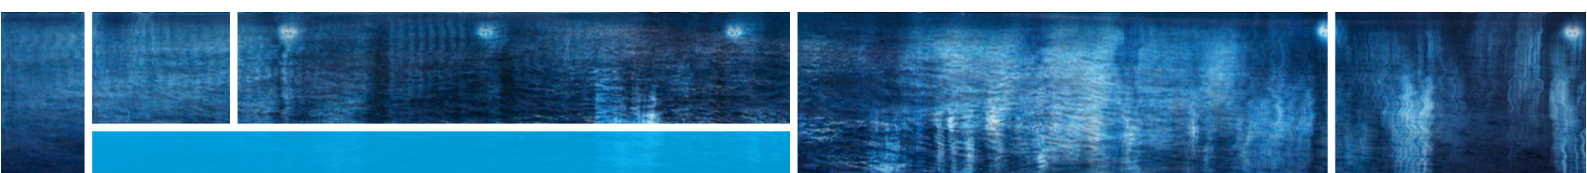

- The winners of all four Grand Slam doubles titles in 2018 and the last two year-end No. 1 teams are in Group Knowles/Nestor. Australian Open champions and 2018 year-end No. 1s Oliver Marach and Mate Pavic open play on Monday against Pierre-Hugues Herbert and Nicolas Mahut. The Frenchmen defeated Marach and Pavic at Roland Garros to capture their third Grand Slam title as a team. In the evening doubles match, 2017 year-end No. 1s Lukasz Kubot and Marcelo Melo attempt to avenge their loss in the US Open final when they meet Mike Bryan and Jack Sock. Prior to the US Open, Bryan and Sock captured the Wimbledon title in their Grand Slam team debut.

• Team was formed after Mike Bryan's twin brother, Bob, suffered a season-ending hip injury in the final at ATP Masters 1000 Madrid on 13 May. Bob underwent right hip surgery on 2 August.
• In only 7 tournaments played together since June, 1st-time American duo compiled 16-5 record, capturing titles at Wimbledon (d. Klaasen/Venus in 5 sets) and US Open (d. Kubot/Melo). Became 1st team to sweep Wimbledon and US Open in same season since Bjorkman/Woodbridge in 2003.
• M. Bryan made history with both Wimbledon and US Open titles. Two days after winning Wimbledon on 14 July, 40-year-old M. Bryan became oldest No. 1 in history of ATP Doubles Rankings (since 1976). M. Bryan has been ranked No. 1 individually ever since and will end year as No. 1. By winning US Open, M. Bryan broke tie with John Newcombe for most Grand Slam men's doubles titles of all time (18).
• In 9 tournaments together, Bryan brothers went 26-9 (2-3 in finals) with ATP Masters 1000 titles at Miami and Monte-Carlo. Still ranked No. 6 in ATP Doubles Team Rankings and would have qualified.
• Sock went 9-21 in singles and is 35-15 in doubles, rising to career-high No. 2 in doubles on 10 September and falling to No. 105 in singles on 5 November -- lowest since No. 118 on 3 June 2013. Tied for most doubles titles on tour w/Pavic (5), including Delray Beach w/Withrow (d. Monroe/Smith), ATP Masters 1000 Indian Wells w/Isner (d. Bryan/Bryan) and Lyon w/Kyrgios (d. Jebavy/Middelkoop).

10 THINGS TO WATCH IN LONDON

1) Season Finale: The 2018 Nitto ATP Finals marks the 49th edition of the year-end championships and 10th at The O2 in London. New World No. 1 Novak Djokovic heads Group Guga Kuerten and Roger Federer leads Group Lleyton Hewitt. Since Kuerten captured the 2000 title and Hewitt swept the next two, Djokovic and Federer have combined to win 11 of the 15 year-end championships.

2) Dream Finish: Djokovic hopes to tie Federer's Nitto ATP Finals record by winning his sixth title. The year-end No. 1 and Comeback Player of the Year entered Wimbledon in July with a No. 21 ranking and no titles in 52 weeks. Djokovic returns to London four months later with four 2018 titles. He has made the biggest single-season jump to year-end No. 1 in the 46-year history of the ATP Rankings.

3) Eye on 100: While Djokovic seeks a storybook end to his season, Federer hopes to finish 2018 with the 100th title of his career. Federer has won more titles in London than any other city with a record eight Wimbledon championships and triumphs at The O2 in 2010 and 2011. The 37-year-old Swiss also won year-end championships at Houston in 2003 and 2004 and at Shanghai in 2006 and 2007.

4) Next is Now: For the second straight year, Alexander Zverev qualified for the Nitto ATP Finals and Next Gen ATP Finals. The 21-year-old German leads all players with 54 victories in 2018, including title wins at all three levels of the tour. Zverev won his third career ATP Masters 1000 title at Madrid and defended titles at both Washington (ATP World Tour 500) and Munich (ATP World Tour 250).

5) First-Timers Club: Six-foot-10 John Isner, 33, and 6-foot-8 Kevin Anderson, 32, are the tallest players ever to compete at the Nitto ATP Finals and the oldest first-time qualifiers since 1972. The former college rivals each reached career-high rankings on 16 July following Anderson's six-hour, 36-minute semi-final win over Isner at Wimbledon. Anderson rose to No. 5 and Isner reached No. 8.

6) Cilic's Challenge: World No. 7 Marin Cilic has won 223 matches since 2014, qualifying four times in five years for the Nitto ATP Finals. But only one of the Croat's victories has come at The O2. Already eliminated from semi-final contention, Cilic beat Kei Nishikori in a 2016 round-robin match.

7) Special Kei: Like Cilic, Nishikori will be competing at the Nitto ATP Finals for the fourth time in five years. The two-time semi-finalist started this season on the ATP Challenger Tour and is finishing it in style. Nishikori is 19-6 since the US Open with two finals, two semi-finals and two quarter-finals.

8) Mr. Consistency: Dominic Thiem leads all players by reaching the quarter-finals or better at 14 tournaments in 2018. The three-time Nitto ATP Finals qualifier won three titles, advanced to his first Grand Slam final at Roland Garros and appeared in his second ATP Masters 1000 final at Madrid.

9) No. 1 Doubles Player: The winners of all four Grand Slam doubles titles this season are in Group Knowles/Nestor, including Wimbledon and US Open champions Mike Bryan and Jack Sock. Bryan, 40, is the oldest World No. 1 doubles player in history and has already clinched year-end No. 1.

10) No. 1 Doubles Team: Oliver Marach, 38, is the oldest member of a year-end No. 1 doubles team since 1984. Mate Pavic, 25, is the youngest since 1995. Marach is the first Austrian and Pavic is the first Croatian to finish No. 1 in any of the ATP Rankings (singles, doubles player, doubles team).

SIX-TIME CHAMPION FEDERER HEADLINES OPENING DAY

- The winningest player in Nitto ATP Finals history kicks off the year-end championships on Sunday when six-time champion Roger Federer meets two-time semi-finalist Kei Nishikori. Besides titles, the 37-year-old Federer holds tournament records for finals (10), semi-finals (14), appearances (16) and wins (55). While Federer seeks the 100th title of his career, Nishikori hopes for his first title in his last 50 tour-level events. The Japanese star did manage to win an ATP Challenger Tour title in February at Dallas, USA. Nishikori is just the third player since 1994 to capture a Challenger championship and qualify for the Nitto ATP Finals in the same season. Federer and Nishikori have met twice before at The O2. The Swiss won round-robin matches over Nishikori in 2014 and 2015.

- Also in Group Lleyton Hewitt, Wimbledon finalist Kevin Anderson and Roland Garros finalist Dominic Thiem go head-to-head. Anderson was 6-0 against Thiem entering 2018 before falling to the Austrian at ATP Masters 1000 Madrid and the US Open. Thiem is making his third straight appearance at the Nitto ATP Finals, posting 1-2 round-robin records in both 2016 and 2017. Anderson is debuting at The O2 after spending 23 hours and 20 minutes on court at Wimbledon, where he rallied from two sets and one match point down for his biggest career win over Federer.

- Doubles play begins in Group Llodra/Santoro, which features only one team with Nitto ATP Finals experience. Two-time semi-finalists Jamie Murray and Bruno Soares open play against Wimbledon finalists Raven Klaasen and Michael Venus. Murray and Soares lead the head-to-head 2-1, but lost to Klaasen and Venus in a five-set quarter-final at Wimbledon. In their eighth full season as a team, Colombians Juan Sebastian Cabal and Robert Farah make their debut at The O2 against Nikola Mektic and Alexander Peya. A right elbow injury has sidelined Peya since 18 August, when he and Mektic conceded a walkover to Cabal and Farah in the ATP Masters 1000 Cincinnati quarter-finals.
