ATP APPOINTS ANDRE SILVA AS CHIEF TOUR OFFICER

LONDON: The ATP has today announced the appointment of Andre Silva as Chief Tour Officer. Silva brings extensive international leadership experience across professional tennis and global sport, including senior roles with TEAM8, tournament leadership at the Cincinnati Open, and executive positions at the PGA Tour overseeing flagship events such as THE PLAYERS Championship and The Presidents Cup.

He also previously served as ATP Chief Player Officer and Tournament Director of the Nitto ATP Finals. With a track record spanning athlete representation, major event delivery and commercial operations, combined with a deep understanding of player and tournament relations, Silva is uniquely positioned to lead the Tour at a transformative moment for men's tennis. He succeeds Ross Hutchins, who has held the role since 2020.

Andrea Gaudenzi, ATP Chairman, said: "Andre is a proven leader with a unique combination of experience across players, tournaments and other sports. His appointment comes at a pivotal time as we continue building a stronger, more compelling ATP Tour, as well as advocating to unify the broader tennis landscape through our OneVision plan."

Andre Silva, incoming ATP Chief Tour Officer, said: "It's an honour to return to the ATP and contribute to the sport that has shaped my professional life. I'm energised by the progress the Tour has made in recent years and look forward to working with players, tournaments and stakeholders to take our sport to even greater heights."

Silva will assume his new role from 1 November 2025 and will be based out of the ATP's Florida office. Download rights-free image of Andre Silva here.
